

Lloyd Library & Museum News

At the Lloyd Library, it all begins with our collections. Seven centuries of collections drive not only research, but the exhibitions we curate every year. Highlights from our current exhibit include Elizabeth Blackwell's hand-colored Herbarium from 1750 and our earliest work on chocolate, coffee and tea, Philippe Dufour's Traitez Nouveau from 1685.

Radio Interview on New Exhibit

Barbara Gray, host of Around Cincinnati on WVXU, previews the Lloyd's newest exhibition in a conversation with our Executive Director, Patricia Van Skaik. Listen in as they talk about the rare and historical books on display and amazing illustrations of some of our seasonal favorites.

Holiday Open House this Saturday

When: December 15, 12-5 p.m.
Where: Lloyd Library & Museum

Slip away from the hectic activities of the holidays with a stop at the Lloyd Library. Explore our latest exhibition, Ingredients that Warm the Season, and enjoy a cup of hot chocolate and cookies. Holiday cards and unique gifts will be available in the Lloyd Shop. Free and open to the public.

Lloyd Library Perfect for Friends and Family Visits

As friends and family gather for the holidays, share a unique experience with them at the Lloyd. Our current exhibition features treasures from the Lloyd's collections and highlights the history, science and art behind wintertime culinary traditions. Visitors also enjoy the opportunity to explore the Library's unique collections.

The Lloyd Library will close at 2:00 pm on December 13
