

Lloyd Library & Museum News

The Lloyd Library treasures its centuries-old collections, not only for their history, but also for their relevance today. With the recent legalization of medical marijuana in Ohio, an exploration of its historic medicinal uses, illustrations and artifacts provides a meaningful context. The Lloyd looks forward to working with community partners in the upcoming months to bring exhibits and programs on medicinal cannabis, past and present, to you.

Medicinal Cannabis Exhibit Opening Reception

When: Friday, March 29, 5:30-8 p.m.
Where: Lloyd Library & Museum

In collaboration with The Cannabis Museum from Athens, Ohio, Through the Rx Bottle: Medicinal Cannabis 1841-1937 explores the history of medicinal cannabis through artifacts, especially prescription bottles that housed the medicine, including the evolution in glassmaking and its role in transforming the apothecary into the modern drug store. Free and open to the public.

Ohio Valley Seed Swap Coming in March

When: Saturday, March 9, 10 a.m.-2 p.m.
Where: Jolly Event Center, 101 Beacon Drive, Wilder, KY

Share seeds, information and more at the 4th Annual Ohio Valley Seed Swap. Bring any non-GMO, open-pollinating vegetable, flower, herb and other plant seeds to the Seed Swap. During your visit, meet with vendors, community gardening organizations, authors and workshops. The Lloyd Library will be exhibiting as well, so stop by and say hi!

Artists-in-Residence Dive Deep into Lloyd Collections

The Lloyd's inaugural Artists-in-Residence, Guy Michael Davis and Katie Parker of the artist duo Future Retrieval, began their research-based work at the Lloyd Library early last month. Since then, their journey through the Lloyd's collections brings together botanical illustrations, early travel books and ceramic apothecary jars. Their favorite works so far include the Lloyd's oversized works documenting the Napoleonic expedition through Egypt.
