

Lloyd Library & Museum News

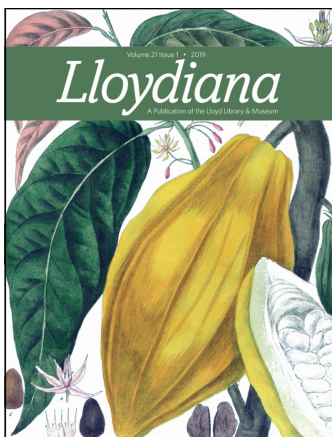

Food offers nutrition, medicinal value, a sense of community and tastes good. This winter the Lloyd Library brings together artists, scientists, cooks and those who enjoy food. High attendance at our current exhibition, Ingredients that Warm the Season, and sold-out upcoming food-related programs demonstrate that the Lloyd Library has become the "go to" place for a wide range botanical resources.

Sharing Soup on Facebook

Our sold-out Serving Soup event tells us just how much soup brings us all together. Post your recipes (and pictures) on Facebook this month and tag them @LloydLibrary. We'll share your recipes, and the post with the most likes wins a gift from the Lloyd Store. #servingsoup

More on Chocolate in Lloydiana

Our chocolate lecture is sold out, but there's more to come on chocolate. The upcoming issue of Lloydiana puts chocolate front and center with a cover story on Theobroma cacao. Other articles explore plant blindness, an in-depth look at our digitization projects and previews of upcoming events. Remember, Friends of the Lloyd Library receive a subscription to our magazine. Join or give a membership as a gift and enjoy Lloydiana delivered to your door.
