Lloyd Library & Museum News

Secret Cincinnati: A Guide to the Weird, Wonderful, and Obscure features the Lloyd in this new collection of truly unique local attractions. Author Kathryn Witt treats readers to high points like our rare books, pharmacy antiques, and fascinating history. Other sights include Pyramid Hill Sculpture Park, the American Sign Museum, and the ominous-sounding Prisoners Lake in Covington, KY.

FotoFocus Exhibits through November

Enjoy our FotoFocus exhibitions through November. Out of the Stacks, a collection of artist books created by members of the Cincinnati Book Arts Society, draws on items from Lloyd collections. A Year on the Edge: A Photographic Narrative of the Edge of Appalachia Preserve showcases stunning images by The Nature Conservancy photographers Rick Conner and TJ Vissing.

Early Notice for Wreath Making Workshop

When: Wednesday, December 5, 6-8 p.m.
Where: Lloyd Library & Museum

Based on the popularity of last year's wreath making workshop, we're announcing this year's event early. Reservations required.
$50 Registration fee includes materials and your take home wreath. Light refreshments. Limited seating.

Humboldt's Drawings and Travel Diaries

Alexander von Humboldt is considered not only an explorer and naturalist, but the father of the environmental movement. His legacy lives on in the Lloyd's collections with the newly published and wonderfully illustrated The Complete Drawings from the American Travel Diaries. This oversize work details Humboldt's early 19th century travels and meticulous documenting of all things natural in the Americas (volcano sketch pictured at left).
