Lloyd Library Addresses COVID-19 -Update

Since our founding, the Lloyd Library and Museum has been dedicated to health, wellness and civic responsibility. We take great pride in maintaining a safe and healthy environment. Because of the rapidly changing health hazards associated with the spread of COVID-19 (coronavirus) the Lloyd Library is taking steps to minimize risks.

In compliance with recommendations from the Centers for Disease Control \(CDC\), the Ohio State Department of Health, and Hamilton County Health Department, and the City of Cincinnati, including social distancing, the Library closed on March 14. All public programs have been canceled through May and will be rescheduled.

Researchers are encouraged to contact the Lloyd Library via phone (513) 721-3707 or email for remote assistance. Stay connected with the Lloyd through our website, Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn and Instagram. Browse the digital collections of the Lloyd Library hosted by the Public Library of Cincinnati and Hamilton County, and our affiliate the Biodiversity Heritage Library. Plan your research trip for when we reopen by visiting our library catalog.

Community safety is our highest concern. The Lloyd Library and Museum's senior leadership is actively monitoring the situation and will adhere to all public safety recommendations as they occur. Further operational changes and updates will be announced on our website and through emails and social media.
