

Lloyd Library & Museum News

Looking back, 2020 was a year like no other. Adjusting to the new normal was difficult, but provided new opportunities and experiences. We were able to provide content from our homes via online lectures and answer your questions on research topics. Our #stumpthelloyd campaign alone brought in 63,363 likes! Read on as we wrap 2020 and jump start 2021.

Knock on Wood: Winter Walk

When: Saturday, January 30, 2021
10:00 a.m.-11:00 a.m.

Where: Burnet Woods, Brookline Ave. entrance, Cincinnati, OH

Experience the wonder of winter woodlands in the heart of the Cincinnati during this hour-long walk through the scenic trails of Burnet Woods. Guided by biochemist and nature enthusiast, Dr. Rama Kasturi, create your own forest-bathing experience and soak up the beauty of nature. Reservations required for this free event as space is limited.

Lloyd Library Featured in Cincinnati Magazine

Cincinnati Magazine features the Lloyd Library in its popular “Top Doctors” issue. In keeping with a medical theme, “Plants on Paper” describes our library’s beginnings collecting pharmaceutical, botanical and fungi related materials as part of the magazine’s “Camera Obscura” column. Characterizing us as a “library/secret garden” they provide an overview of Lloyd collections, as well as our latest electronic endeavors. Check it out in the January issue, available digitally from Cincinnati Magazine.

Top Nine Instagram Posts

The Lloyd's Instagram page brought a bright spot to 2020. Our top nine posts included fungi, cacti, bats, and reptiles. While most don't think of Instagram as a reference service, the #stumpthelloyd campaign required research and generated some of our viewers' favorite pics. It's been delightfully challenging to field the requests. Keep them coming! We look forward to another year of connecting through social media.
