

LLOYD
LIBRARY & MUSEUM

At the Lloyd, we see plants in unexpected ways. Join us as we tour flowers in our largest neighborhood park, experience an artistic interpretation of cash crops and learn about a historical perspective of herbal medicine. You can count on us to explore plants through a wide range of lenses.

Flourish Exhibition Opening

When: Friday, September 10, 5-6 p.m. and 6-7 p.m.

Where: Lloyd Library & Museum

In early 2020, Melissa Haviland, artist-printmaker from Athens, Ohio, spent a month on-site at the Lloyd conducting research to inform her project, Flourish. The resulting exhibition runs September 10 through November 20 and features screen prints installed on wallpaper, reflecting her research into early travel and botanical illustrations with a focus on cash crops.

This ticketed opening event offers time slots at 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. with reduced capacity. Masks are required and will be available at the door. Registration Required.

Plants have been a part of medicine throughout human history. One little-known example is the Eclectic medical movement of the 19th and early 20th centuries. In this episode of the Grounded Hope podcast, host Renee Wilde interviews Lloyd librarian Alex Herrlein about the Eclectics and the Lloyd brothers' role in nature-based medicine.
