LIBRARY & MUSEUM

In the next month, we explore sea life over 3,000+ years through ancient art to the precarious world of sea ice today. Join us for a webinar on Bronze Age Greek art this week. Meanwhile, register for the in-person program on polar bear conservation in mid-July--seating is limited. As we look to the Lloyd Library and Museum's future, we are proud to announce the appointment of two new members to the Lloyd Library and Museum's Board of Directors.

On Thin Ice: Polar Bears in a Changing Landscape

When: Saturday, July 15, 1-2 p.m.
Where: Lloyd Library

Polar bears rely on sea ice for survival making them a flagship species for understanding the impact of climate change. Population monitoring is critical to determine how bears are responding to, and the impact of, their changing environment. Join Erin Curry, Director of the Polar Bear Signature Project at the Cincinnati Zoo & Botanical Garden, to learn more about how working with polar bears in zoos advances the conservation and management of their wild cousins. Registration required.

Meet Our Newest Board Members

We are pleased to announce that John Deatruck and Susan E. Thomas have joined the Lloyd Library Board of Directors.

John Deatruck brings extensive experience in engineering and planning, ranging from public works to library and hospital construction with an emphasis on green infrastructure projects. As a Professional Engineer, Chartered Engineer, Certified Planner, and LEED Accredited Professional, he has brought together diverse groups of people to establish high performing organizations and project teams delivering operations and complex programs of work.

Susan E. Thomas serves as President of the Fifth Third Community Development Company where she works to support community revitalization, and the creation and preservation of affordable housing. Previously, as the Executive Vice President of the Port Authority in Cincinnati, she had responsibility for the public finance and the industrial development business lines. She also played a key role in the establishment of the county land bank.

We look forward to working with John Deatruck and Susan Thomas and the many skills and talents that they bring to the Board.
