

Our first virtual program in the More-Than-Human Medicine series is just around the corner! Designed to broaden access and deepen connection, our virtual events bring together audiences and speakers wherever they may be. Many in-person programs are also recorded and available anytime on our YouTube channel.

Gathering Council

When: Wednesday, June 10, 7-8 p.m.
Where: Virtual Program

Gathering Council is a guided exploration of extended cognition and the idea that thinking is not confined to the brain, but emerges through our relationships with body, environment, and community. Sophie Strand, a writer based in the Hudson Valley, invites participants in this virtual program to reimagine illness, ecological instability, and social upheaval not as isolated crises, but as entangled experiences that can deepen perception and connection.

Registration Required.

More-Than-Human Medicine Artist Talk

When: Wednesday, June 24, 7-8 p.m.
Where: Lloyd Library & Museum

Join Sara Torgison, the co-curator of our current exhibition and 2025 Lloyd Library & Museum Artist-in-Residence, for her insight into More-Than-Human Medicine, an exploration of human interdependence with plant and animal species that have supported our wellness across centuries. Torgison will discuss her use of craft processes as a way of reclaiming time, from researching plants to rendering animals. Registration Required.

Each Donation Helps Knowledge Grow

With your support, The Lloyd will continue to thrive today and for generations to come, building a sustainable future, keeping pace with evolving technology, and ensuring that knowledge flourishes and remains relevant in a changing world.

Please join us by contributing to our spring fundraiser. The Elizabeth Wakeman Henderson Charitable Trust and Hardy Eshbaugh have generously provided a matching grant for the first $10,000 in donations. Knowledge Grows Here.

Instagram Followers Hit Record High

Sometimes 13 is a lucky number--when it's a record 13,500 Instagram followers! The Lloyd's Instagram account just reached a new high on the strength of our signature blend of images from our unique collections. One of the most popular recent posts was the April 5th post celebrating National Dandelion Day. The pictured collage of dandelions showcases illustrations from 1773-1922.
